ALL THE WAYS TO EXPO 2015

EXPO ACCOMMODATION PACKAGES FROM € 299.00

Alessandro Rosso Group offers Expo packages at a special price that includes Expo ticket, accommodation and transfers to and from the Expo area.

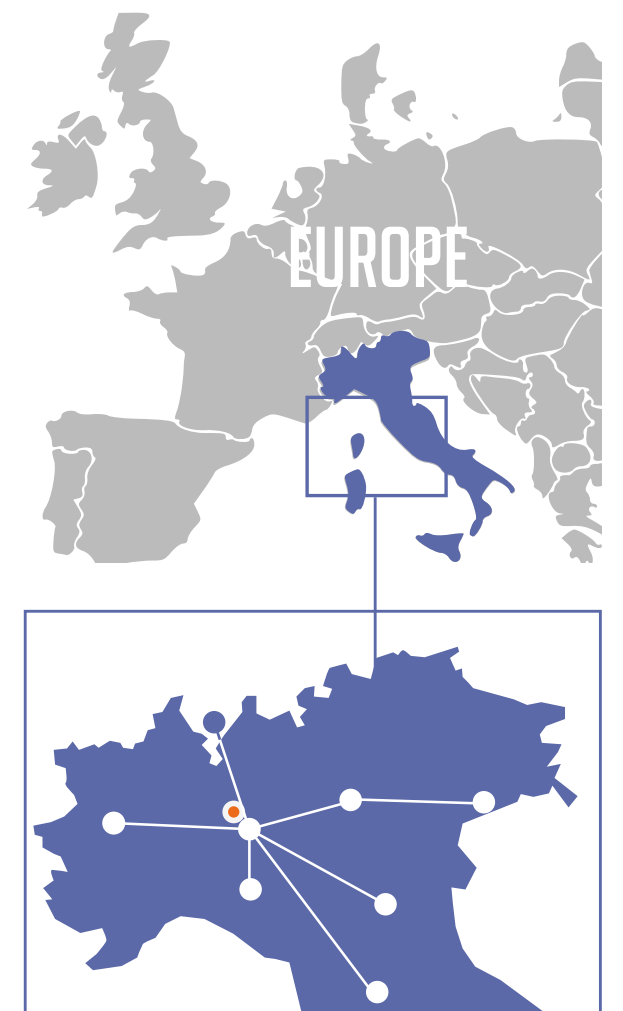

Some packages are based in Milan, its surroundings and the Expo area. Other packages are based in Turin, Pavia, Lugano, Verona, Venice, Bologna and Firenze.

These towns have been selected for their captivating features and for their proximity to the Expo area. In only one or two hours by train, you can spend the night in Romeo and Juliet's hometown Verona, in magical Venice with its romantic canals, in Leonardo and Michelangelo's stunning hometown of Florence, in the charming old capital of the Kingdom of Italy, Turin, in the ancient university city of Pavia, or on the green shores of the lake which laps the Swiss town of Lugano.

You will discover that several towns and villages of the province of Milan are full of history, culture and tradition. Some of them house real architectural and natural gems, others have been the backdrop of great historical and political events.

The area to the north of Milan is characterized by densely populated towns which are undergoing radical urban transformation. Sesto San Giovanni is one such example: in the 20th century, the town had the highest concentration of heavy industry in Lombardy. Today, new urban neighborhoods are rising from the former industrial areas of Falck, Magneti Marelli and Breda, with some of the old industrial structures being restored to preserve the strong historic industrial identity of the area. Here, not far from Milan, one can discover the charm of the Milanese hinterland: prized villas and historical houses set in elegant and enchanting scenery.

Alfa Romeo, based in Arese, is a glorious example of "made in Italy": the history of this world-famous brand is displayed in a beautiful museum.

Milan, home to Expo 2015, is Italy's most cosmopolitan city, a meeting point for northern European and Italian style. The capital of Lombardy is both hardworking and glamorous - powerful in business from finance to fashion and also, of course, football.

Milan is a city that incites extreme emotions, the city's lifestyle is also extreme. A frenetic, restless pace is part of both work and leisure - it is difficult not to be swayed by all the cultural and social stimulus.

Perhaps for this reason, Milan is indispensable, as it is impossible to feel quite so alive and full of energy when you are away from the city. Milan is always one step ahead, a laboratory of artistic experiment and a building site for social behavior that is constantly changing. This is a city full of contradictions, ancient and modern, trends and counter-trends, fashion and underground, middle class and working class - but always simply "cool".

Crossed by the river Po, Turin is an Italian city of dual importance. From a cultural point of view it was the capital of the Sabaudo State and has a well preserved Baroque center. From an economic point of view it has become Italy's second most important industrial city with the headquarters of Fiat at Lingotto.

Turin is a dynamic city, full of artistic and cultural activity and urban redevelopment. The revitalization of suburbs and numerous renovations are defining the new face of the metropolis. Yet Turin is also city of great tradition, custodian of a glorious cultural past. Architecture, lifestyle, cultural events, excellent cuisine, Turin combines the right ingredients and creates a unique atmosphere.

Turin is very accessible, thanks to a modern network of highways and rail connections and an international airport just few minutes from its center.

Pavia is a town of South-West Lombardy, 35 Km from Milan, on the lower Ticino river near the point where it meets with the Po. It is the capital of a fertile province known for its agricultural products including wine, rice, cereals, and dairy products.

The University of Pavia, one of the most ancient in Europe, the well known Certosa, the ancient castles and the Po river valley are just some of the most beautiful things for a visitor to see in Pavia, Oltrepò and Lomellina.

1 entrance ticket for a visit to Castello Visconteo and the City Museums: this large fortified Castle, built between 1360 and 1365 by Galeazzo II Visconti, was used more as a private residence rather than a stronghold. The poet Francesco Petrarca spent some time there, when Gian Galeazzo Visconti brought him there to take charge of its magnificent library which housed about a thousand books and manuscripts, subsequently lost. The Castle is now home to the City Museums (Musei Civici) and the Castle park is a popular attraction for children. An unconfirmed legend tells of plans for the Castle to be connected to the Certosa by a secret underground tunnel.

The town of Verona stands at the foot of the Lessinia Hills and is crossed by the river Adige. Verona's climate and its vegetation benefit from its proximity to Lake Garda.

Verona's historical center boasts many magnificent Roman ruins, second only to those of Rome. The monument for which Verona is famous throughout the world is its Roman Arena. Dating back to the 1st century AD it has been used for many different events. Every summer spectacular open-air operas and concerts are held there. This great amphitheater could hold up to 25.000 spectators and its interior is still perfectly preserved (even the acoustics). The exterior wall fell during an earthquake and there is only a portion, called the Ala, still standing.

Verona is also known throughout the world as the setting for Shakespeare's tragedy, Romeo and Juliet. The places where, according to tradition, the two young lovers lived and died are visited by thousands of tourists and romantics every year. Besides its monuments, Verona offers several typical products that are exported worldwide. Among them are D.O.C. wines.

Venice and its lagoon is a unique achievement of art, architecture and struggle against the elements.

The old historical center of the city is situated on 118 islands of the Venetian Lagoon. Its singular appearance and wealth of art treasures make it unique. It is crisscrossed by more than 150 canals and 400 bridges.

Records on Venice date back to the fifth and sixth centuries when refugees from the surrounding countryside took shelter in the lagoon. The inhabitants transformed it into an important trading center for shipping in the Mediterranean and towards the Orient.

A byzantine palazzo with arcades and loggias was built in the 12th century, replacing the fortified castle
- St. Mark's Basilica: this glorious and magnificent basilica dates back more than 1000 years. Four previous churches form the basis of the present building. The first building was the Doge's Chapel, which was built in the middle of the 9th century when sailors brought the relics of St. Mark to Venice. From then on, the church gained importance and was sponsored and expanded by the Doge

Bologna is known above all for its arcades. There are reputedly 40 Kilometers of arcades in the city, transforming this historic center into one large covered mall, used for business, shopping and socializing.

Bologna is also known as "the city of towers" as it used to boast no less than 300 slender towers. The majority of these were pulled down when the city was completely overhauled at the beginning of the 20th century, an ambitious project that also included dismantling the city walls of which only the sentinel gates remain standing today. Nevertheless, Bologna is still distinguished by a number of signature towers the most famous being the Garisenda and Asinelli towers, which mark the heart of the historic center. Bologna is also a vibrant center of Italy's national economy, with brands that have made history especially in the motor world. Names like Ducati, Minarelli, Lamborghini, Italjet, Malaguti, Morini, VM and many others. Here more than anywhere else, resides the culture of small and medium companies that has become the envy of the entire world, a unique business community that people from all over study and replicate.

This dynamic spirit can also be found on the bustling shopping streets, full of flourishing shops, thriving in an opulent atmosphere.

- National Gallery: the collection of paintings dating back to 1796. The core collection come from churches and monasteries which were abolished by the Napoleonic administration. In 1808, this collection was moved to it's present location, the former St. Ignazio Monastery in via Belle Arti
- MAMbo – Museo d'Arte Moderna di Bologna is the venue of Modern and Contemporary Art. The museum offers a dynamic perspective: it travels through the history of Italian art from the second post-war period until today; it explores the present thanks to an exhibition centred on research and it contributes to outline the routes of contemporary art following the most innovative and pulsating experimental practices. Located in the heart of the Manifattura delle Arti cultural district, the museum is the focus of various research- and innovation-based activities, such as the Cineteca di Bologna, the DMS workshop spaces, the Communication Sciences Faculty and many associations and art galleries.

Florence is universally renowned for its monuments, art collections and beauty. It has become one of the major destinations of international tourism.

The Etruscans settled on the hills surrounding Florence, but with their strong hold in Fiesole from 50 BC, the Roman city of Florentia was founded by the Roman Consul Julius Cesar around 59 BC.

Florentia emerged from an era of Barbarian domination to revive and rebuild itself during the Carolingian period, gaining between the 11th and 14th centuries, increasing autonomy from the Holy Roman Empire and becoming a free municipality, able to withstand the continual struggles between Guelphs and Ghibellines (XIII - XIV century).

The XV century saw the beginning of the Medici rule, who later became the Grand Dukes of Tuscany. During this period Florence rose to eminence among Italian cities - the Queen of the Renaissance - in the arts, culture, politics and economic power.

With the ending of the Medici dynasty in the early XVIII century, Florence passed to the dominion of the Dukes of Lorraine. In 1860 Tuscany was united with the new Kingdom of Italy with Florence as its capital from 1865 to 1871.

The Florentines themselves merit comment: industrious, resourceful, quick-witted and sharp-tongued, they possess an innate dignity and quiet elegance plus a deeply rooted pride in their city and an uncanny ability to tackle hardship.
